

Workshop on Research Methodology for the Historical Anthropology of Researching Twentieth Century China

7 Apr 2016 (Thursday)

1:00 – 6:00pm

Room 1118, 11/F,

Yasumoto International Academic Park

This workshop will be a forum for discussion and reflection on research methodologies used for collecting, analyzing and conceptualizing the diverse subjects studied by the members of the Historical Anthropology of Chinese Society in the Twentieth Century Initiative research team. Presenters will discuss challenges they have faced as historians and anthropologists engaging in cross-disciplinary research involving the integration of analysis and narratives formulated from information gathered from fieldwork and historical documents. There will be presentations by Dr. Igor Chabrowski (China Studies, CUHK), Professor Ching May Bo (History, City University of Hong Kong), Professor Thomas Dubois (History, Australian National University), Dr. Aurore Dumont (China Studies, CUHK), and Professor Jan Kiely (China Studies, CUHK), and as well as commentary by Professor David Faure (History/China Studies, CUHK), Professor He Xi (History, CUHK), and Professor John Lagerwey (CCS, CUHK).

Free Admission

The workshop is conducted in English
